Patterns in Reconciliation

IFOR recognizes the importance of a deeper exploration of reconciliation and nonviolence. That is why we publish Patterns in Reconciliation, an occasional paper series. Patterns brings challenging new thinking to the theory, practice and philosophy of nonviolence. Editions currently available include Reconciliation: Reflections on the occasion of IFOR's 75th Anniversary; No Royal Road to Reconciliation: Reflections on trauma and some psychological and spiritual possibilities it brings to reconciliation; The Nonviolent Crescent: Islam and Nonviolence; The Third Way: Reclaiming Jesus' nonviolent alternative; and The Nonviolence of the Brave.

INFORMATION PACK

May 24 - International Women's Day for Peace and Disarmament

Produced annually by IFOR and the International Peace Bureau, the May 24 Pack features articles from women's peace campaigns around the world. Past issues focused on women in Burma, in the Caucasus (including summaries in Russian), and in Africa. Complete with directory of over 100 women's peace groups in 60 countries.

EUR 5.00

JOURNALS

IR, International Reconciliation is IFOR's journal which aims at bringing a deeper understanding to the practice and theory of active nonviolence by giving in-depth reports, interviews, analysis and reflections from activists around the world.

IR also provides exclusive coverage of IFOR's activities and field associates, as well as encouraging articles about interfaith and intercultural communities striving for peace. It includes features from IFOR BGAs on education and training programs, gender issues and youth programs, as well as relevant resource materials and an international calendar of peace conferences, campaigns, trainings and more.

Subscribe* NOW for 2010, it's free to friends of IFOR!

* IR is published on an "as available" basis, when a publisher, normally an IFOR member organization, is available and commits to the program's requirements. At this time, IR is only published once per year.

MULTIMEDIA

Nonviolence for the Brave

Gender-aware active nonviolence training

This video is an excellent tool for active nonviolence training. Filmed at one of Women Peacemakers Program's trainings, it includes comments and views of Diana Francis and Netsai Mushonga as well as illustrates the general structure of a training. From this video you will get an extensive look into the content of active nonviolence, practical knowledge from a successful training, and also inspiration. This video is equally suitable for both women and men. 30 minutes.

Africa: French or English
Pacific: Spanish or English
EUR 20.00

Women Peacemakers in Consultation Video Series, brings the regional WPP consultations home to you. These approx 20-minute videos, complete with viewer's guide, discussion questions and action suggestions, feature women activists from countries in conflict. Women from different sides of the conflicts talk movingly about their work for peace, the obstacles they face and their successes. Pacific, European, African and Asian regional consultation videos are available in PAL and NTSC. Written reports of the consultations are available upon request as well.

EUR 15.00

Building the Decade for a culture of Peace and Nonviolence. As a part of the UN Decade for a Culture of Peace and Non-violence this documentary video portrays highlights from the Asia Girl Child Peace Camp. It gives ideas for how to organize a similar peace camp yourself, and includes a viewers guide for the full usage of the video. 20 minutes.

EUR 15.00

Asian Women Speak Out. Women from Sri Lanka, Bangladesh, India and Nepal confront violence against women.

In this documentary by Drew Detweiler women re-examine traditional concepts about their roles. This video includes a viewers guide that helps you understand it better and enjoy it to the fullest. 60 minutes.
